

ABSTRACT

Disclosed herein is device, system, method, and related user interfaces, for converting specific-case information to general-case information, comprising: identifying specific-case terms by scanning through a source document; proposing substitutions of general-case terms for the identified specific-case terms; and displaying the proposed substitutions.